

QUESTIONS AND RESPONSES

On October 23, 2013, we received the following correction from a visitor:

“You said in your recent answer on the couple killed: "This couple made a courageous stand in a dangerous war torn country where Christians are persecuted and greatly outnumbered, and in the direct face of religious terrorists."

“This information is factually wrong. The country in which the incident took place (Kenya) is not "war torn", nor are Christians "persecuted and greatly outnumbered..." This was a terrorist act in a country where all faiths are free to worship in any manner that they please.

“Please do check your facts carefully before publishing them. Many of us who read this website lay a lot of premium on your credibility and erroneous assertions as those above may erode that trust.

“May our God bless you.”

To the author, thank you for your email. You are correct. We have deleted those phrases from the subject Question and Response, 10/3/13.

We want to emphasize that the error was on our part in our commentary on the importance of the couple’s stand. It is not a reflection of the credibility of the source who provided the information to us.

We hope that by making this swift correction, we will continue to earn your trust.

“Elaia Luchnia”
